CHICKENS STOLEN.
Impossible to Fix Guilt Upon Man Suspected.

Some few days ago, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hattin, who reside in Chaplin, missed six chickens from their coop one evening. They traced the thief by a wagon trail right to the doorway of a house situated near the line in Ashford. Complaint was made to the authorities, and the case has been investigated. As a result one Joseph Dvorak, a Slav, aged 28, one of a number occupying the house near the Ashford line, was prosecuted in Chaplin Center schoolhouse Friday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Clarence E. Chester by Grand Juror George W. Ide. Only circumstantial evidence could be found against the supposed chicken thief and after a session lasting a couple of hours or more the prisoner was permitted to go with no action pending, as far as could be learned.

Pleasant Evening for Band.
The regular weekly rehearsal of Wheeler's American band Thursday evening was an unusually pleasant one. After the rehearsal and a short business session, it was voted to renovate the band quarters with the installation of new fixtures. The members of the band were treated to a show-out by William Taylor, the band's trap drummer, who was married Monday evening in Hartford. Mr. Taylor furnished cigars, sandwiches, and other refreshments. The evening was very pleasantly passed.

to look up a place, and after deliberating on many sites decided to build a factory in Hop River. The company, which is composed of New York people, is a well established one, and manufactures chairs seats from both leather and paper pulp as leaders in their business, and other articles, such as dinner boxes, suit cases, pocket-books, etc.

Work on the factory was started this week. The site is on the land owned by the Case Leatherboard Paper company near the Hop River station. The factory will be 100 feet in length by 40 feet in width, one story high, of brick, and will be built so that another story can be added if necessary. Contractor Joseph Jones is doing the brick work and Carpenter Smith of Andover will do the woodwork. Twenty-five hands will be employed at first, mostly men and boys. The company is rushing the erection of the factory, as their lease on their New York factory expires January 1. If the force of hands now with the company in New York does not come to Hop River, and if there is not enough help in Hop River, chances will be given local people to obtain employment.

Christopher C. Case, who owns the land in the vicinity of the new factory, states that he is not connected with the firm, but that he will supply the pulp used in the manufacture of some of the goods made by the new company. Mr. Case also reports that business at his paper mill is very good. Taking it all in all, Hop River is getting progressive and a building boom may be expected there in the future.

William B. Chamberlain More Comfortable.

William B. Chamberlain, the Lebanon farmer who was so roughly handled on the highway between Colchester and his home, November 21, was reported to be a trifle more comfortable Friday afternoon. The physicians say that unless complications arise, recovery is but a question of time. The physicians are of the opinion, however, that Mr. Chamberlain will be unable to be present at the postponed hearing of Merline and Sullivan, who are now in the county jail at Norwich.

Petition in Favor of Jeremiah Lee.

A petition is being circulated about town in the interests of Jeremiah Lee, 9 West Park street, a veteran of the civil war, who is seeking an increase in pension. Mr. Lee has recently lost his sight and is unable to work. The petition has been signed by the mayor, town and city officials, members of Francis S. Long post, No. 30, G. A. R., by veterans of the Spanish war, county officials and other substantial citizens. There are about 200 signatures to the petition and when more have been secured it will be forwarded to Washington in care of United States Senator Morgan G. Bulkeley.

Porcelain Cement and Glue
For Mending

What! Broken that pretty dish? Well, that's too bad. But then you can step into Jordan's and get just the right kind of stuff to mend it and no one will ever know the difference. They have all kind of cements and glues for mending and the better kinds are Cementum—the Liquid Porcelain Cement. The beauty of this is, that it is all ready to use and will mend dishes, china and things of china and porcelain just fine. Then there's PorMend—an imported cement that you mix with a few drops of water. This will repair china, glass, copper, tin, wood or anything so that they can be used again as if new.

Major's Cement is another fine thing for repairing broken articles, and LePage's Glue is something that should be in every household, for it has so many uses. Yes, you'll find everything here.
